

ANNUAL ECONOMIC SUMMIT

SPONSORED BY THE CENTER FOR CATHOLIC STUDIES
AND MICAH INSTITUTE FOR BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS

Saturday, April 28, 2012

9:30am to 3:30pm

Registration opens at 9:00am

Walsh Library, Rotunda

SPEAKERS INCLUDE:

Dr. Anna Brown, Prof. of Political Science at St. Peter's College; Greg Sullivan, Program Director of "First Friends," an immigrant detainee service; Kathleen O'Leary of "Pax Christi," an organization advocating a more peaceful and just world; and Sue Kenney, advocate for the undocumented immigrant worker. Also, immigrant neighbors will bear witness to the detention experience and the realities of family separation.

HUMAN DIGNITY AND THE TWELVE MILLION

THE RELIGIOUS, ECONOMIC AND LEGAL ASPECTS OF IMMIGRATION
IN THE UNITED STATES AND US IMMIGRATION POLICY

Your people will be my people and your God my God...
(Ruth 1:16)

From Adam expelled from the garden, to the pledge of Naomi and Ruth, to the flight of Jesus, Mary and Joseph to Egypt, scripture is replete with calls to care for the least among us: the homeless, the immigrant, the "illegal." This is an issue that needs clarity and understanding— regardless of one's political beliefs.

Seton Hall University's Micah Institute for Business and Economics' Annual Economic Summit will address the religious, economic and legal aspects of immigration in the United States today. Historically, attendees include a cross-section of business, political, academic and religious leaders. Our small group format offers the opportunity for reflection, as well as lively, spirited conversation.

* IF YOU WISH TO ATTEND:

SEATING IS LIMITED SO PLEASE RESPOND ASAP by e-mailing Danute.nourse@shu.edu or calling 973-275-2525. An agenda and background materials will be sent to you in confirmation of your attendance.

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT CENTER FOR CATHOLIC STUDIES AT SETON HALL UNIVERSITY

E-MAIL: Danute.Nourse@shu.edu CALL: 973-275-2525 VISIT: www.shu.edu/academics/artsci/catholic-studies